

Summary

- Early experience influences the structure, function and even life and death of neurons.
- These effects are seen in all sensory systems.
- Many of these effects of are age-dependent. (sensitive period).

